PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS. —County Attorney Ashley returned home yesterday morning.

-Frank McGregor was down from Weir City visiting his parents this week. -C. S. McFadden left Thursday for Joplin. From there he will go to Guthrie, I. T., it is said.

-G. W. Richmond and wife depart-ed last week for Washington state to make their future home.

—W. A. Braman, the alliance lum-ber merchant of Neutral, paid Baxter Springs a business visit Wednesday.

-Ivan Matheny and Carl Craig re-turned to Fayetteville, Ark., last week to attend the military academy there.

-Guy Carroll came over from Galena Thursday to tell the county attorney what he knew about the distribution of raw tarantula juice among citizens of Baxter Springs.

-Henry Cavanaugh was afraid the atmosphere might become too warm and oppressive for him in this locality soon and departed Wednesday with-out making public his destination.

-R. J. Downing returned Menday from Washington, D. C., where he has been engaged as counsel for several weeks in some cases in which the Peoria and Miami Indians are interested.

-Mr. W. S. Forrester of Lawrence, representing the educational depart-

The celebration of Longfellow's birthday by the colored pupils of our Baxter schools was a grand success. Although the evening was the coldest of the year the hall was filled with an appreciative audience and was tastily decorated under the supervision of Wm. Martin. "The Welcome" was pointed and well rendered. "Resigna-tion" was delivered in a style in keeping with the centiment of that poem. The life of Longfellow was well sketched and thoroughly covered as well as it could be in a paper of its length. "The Famine," an extract from the beautiful poem "Hiawatha," was rendered with good expression as was "The Builders"—all by Miss Doty's scholars. The two papers on Longfellow's two most beautiful poems—"The Courtship of Miles Standish" and "Evangeline"—showed that each of these popular poems had been closely studied. Those papers were rendered by pupils of Mrs. Hart's grammar class as was also the sweetest of that author's short poems, "The Flowers." The rendering of Long-fellow's "Psalm of Life" by Mrs. Hart's primary class was perfection in time and expression. Much credit is due Mr. and Mrs. Hart and Miss Doty for the success of that entertainment. Prof. Clark assisted in preparing some excellent music for the occasion. There vas not as many parents of pupils present as should have been. Those who were there received the highest and most intelligent literary entertainment ever given by colored people to the citizens of Baxter Springs. It was one that was creditable to any community and honorable to any pu-pile of the grade of those who partici-

We regret that the children marked the absence of the parents. This should not be. The effect is to make the children feel that there is a lack of interest in them on the part of parents. This feeling produces an indif-ference in pupils the results of which parents will see and feel when it is too late. Children should be encouraged by parents as well as by strangers.

Roll of Honor.

The following pupils of the first intermediate department, Baxter Springs school, have been neither absent nor tardy during the month ending Feb. 28, 1890:

Joplin Herald: Incorporation papers will be filed in a few days for the Galena Electric Power and Mining Company, to be located at Galena. The directors for the first year are William B. Stone of Galena, A. W. Walburn of Fort Scott, Charles E. Hart of Baxter Springs, Arthur E. Stilwell, Delbert J. Haff, Ira C. Hubbell and Charles Rusling of Kansas City. The capital stock is fixed at $200,000 and all is paid in. The company proposes to locate a motor in front of each mine and operate its machinery by electric power. They will establish an arc light system in Gale-The Thomson-Houston Electric Light Company is back of this enterprise, and it will also build the electric power plant which is to be established in Joplin the coming summer.

About a year ago a man died who, it was thought, was the sole possessor of the secret of manufacturing aluminum cheaply. A young employe of the Cowles Manufacturing Company at Cleveland, however, has discovered a process of his own by which the wonderful metal can be made and sold at $2 per hundred by the ton. The sources from which the metal is drawn are inexhaustible, and it is as white as Write for Circulars and Testimonials.
